

Dear LFTB Family,

I heard a story this week about a young pastor whose father had been a pastor for nearly 70 years. His dad had been the pastor of mostly small country churches. The old pastor came down with cancer and eventually was put into hospice care.

On the final night of the old preacher's life, he started trying to get out of the bed. The young pastor tried to keep his dad from getting out of bed. But the old man persisted on trying to get up. The son finally said, "Dad, what are you trying to do?" The old pastor said, "Got to save one more for Jesus". During the next couple of hours, he heard his dad say, "Got to save one more for Jesus". Finally, the old preacher put his hand out on his son's head, (as if commissioning him) and said, "Go, save one more for Jesus."

That story conveys to us the commissioning all of us have been given. We need to save one more for Jesus.

Have a great day and upcoming week,

Brother Dale
